

Take Back Our Schools

Insist They

Educate, Not Indoctrinate

Students, parents, and teachers have been intimidated by cancel-culture to shut-up and go along. Seniors are far less vulnerable to that threat and have a unique role to play, they know what good government looks like and can hold school boards accountable for better educating the next generation.

Our initial effort will be focused on getting Ashley Murray elected for the Cape Henlopen High School Board on May 11th, so we don't have much time. The first salvo in this effort was published in the Cape Gazette on April 2nd, see the Url below:

We are looking for people interested in attending board meetings, doing lit-drops, sign-waving, letter-writing and more. If you are interested in joining the effort to challenge indoctrination in our schools, please email hkgop14@gmail.com
